Best of Rootstech Presented by SMCGS and SVCGG

"RootsTech is the world's largest family history conference. It's run by FamilySearch and has taken place annually in Salt Lake City, Utah since 2011. Family historians from around the world attend to watch talks by family history experts, ...learn skills at family history workshops and visit family history companies and organizations in the Expo Hall."

Many of the talks this year were online as well as in person. Some were pre-recorded. All the recorded videos are available on their website, and are free to watch.

How to access the videos: Videos from 2019-2025 are available and can be searched here.

But how do you search the videos? Country or location is one option. But you'll find that the description doesn't always match what you're looking for. I'll go over some of the options for searching.

Suggested Filters
Content Type	~
Country or Location	~
Language	~
Session Type	~
Skill Level	~
Speaker	~
Sponsor or Exhibitor	~
Торіс	~
Year	~

We'll be presenting short clips of some of our favorite talks. The links are below for you to access the whole presentation. Handouts for each talk, when available, are listed below the description of the talk.

- AI Genealogy: Year Two: The 2025 Outlook: Where We've Been, Where We're At, Where We're Headed Maggie Melaney
- From Kitchen to Keepsake: Create Your Family's Recipe Legacy Sue Sbardellati
- Women and Children Second: The Laws and Records of Citizenship. Andrea Lajoie
- Beyond the Brick Wall: Strategies for Pre-1850 U.S. Research Brickwalls Lisa Williamson
- Irish Genealogy Resources at the Virtual Treasury
- Finding Your Family Online at the Library of Congress,
- Combine Multiple DNA Test Types with Diahan Southard
- AI -Powered Transcription of Handwritten Documents.
- Also: Chinese and Latin American resources available.
- An Overview of Rootstech in person.

↓ Download

(And a visit to the Expo Hall)

Minute Young
Image: Standard
Im

Pamela Brigham

Eric Groth SMPL

Sally Wood

Sara Tanke

Linda Longley